Workshop on Lobbying and Political Influence

November 7th 2023 | Utrecht

The purpose of the event is to bring together researchers working on the topics of lobbying, corruption, political connections and influence to present and discuss their ongoing research and to stimulate interaction and cooperation between them. We especially welcome submissions dealing with the effects of digitalization and transparency reforms on the aforementioned issues and applications in public procurement markets. Submissions dealing with broader issues in political economics are also welcome.

The workshop is organized as a part of the DemoTrans project, a consortium of researchers from KU Leuven, Utrecht University, Charles University, University of Bergen and Tax Justice Network (TJN) investigating the interchange between globalization and democracy in Europe.

In case of questions, please send us an email to lobbying.workshop@uu.nl.

DemoTrans is funded by the European Commission in its Horizon Europe framework (grant 101059288).
