

Overview U.S.E. Seminar Series 2017

Piotr Denderski, University of Leicester
Risk Sharing with Private and Public Information

Jasmin Groeschl, Leibniz Institut für Wirtschaftsforschung, Universität Munchen
Transient Effects of Natural Hazards on International Trade Flows: Evidence from Monthly Data

Ricki Kanabar, University of Essex
Low income dynamics among ethnic minorities in the UK

Michel Gerritse, University of Groningen
Does trade cause detrimental specialization in developing economies? Evidence from countries south of the Suez canal

Joel Shapiro, Oxford University
Blockholder Voting

Amar Bhide, Tufts School of Business
Circumscribing Knowledge: How Old Traditions and New Rules Limit Medical Innovation

Steven Pressman, Colorado State University
The fall of the US middle class and the hair-raising ascent of Donald Trump

Tomasso Reggiani, LUMSA
Should I tell you / or should I not? The (neutral) effect of Transparency on Information Disclosure Nudge

Christine Lauritzen, Humboldt University
Cooperative and altruistic tendencies of entrepreneurs

Thomas Mählmann, Katholische Universität Eichstätt-Ingolstadt
Private Equity Debt Investors

Bart Golsteyn, Maastricht University
The Impact of Peer Personality on Academic Achievement

Flavia Coda Moscarola, Collegio Carlo Alberto
Financial literacy and saving attitudes of primary school children. The joint effect of formal training and domestic financial education

David-Jan Jansen, De Nederlandsche Bank
How the 2010 U.S. Flash Crash Affected Equity Markets in Latin America

Jacopo Mazza, University of Essex

Caught in the Cycle: Timing of Enrollment and Labor Market Performance of University Graduates

Hans Koster, Vrije Universiteit
Amenities and the Social Structure of Cities