

LUNA'S HIGH SCHOOL ADVENTURE

Tod Janssen

Once upon a time, Luna was living in Leidsche Rijn.
(To be precise, it was the 25th day of January in 2040, 19 hours, 21 minutes, 8 seconds, 43
milliseconds and 17 microseconds into the day...)

The Ticks were a happy family. They had plenty of space and were enjoying a delicious dinner in their family home...

Papa Tick said, "we're looking forward to hearing all about your day, Luna! Tell us everything"

Luna starts to recount her day...

She wakes up very early, opens her eyes and remembers that it is going to be her first day at secondary school today!

She can't believe that she's now old enough to travel alone on the supersonic vessel system.

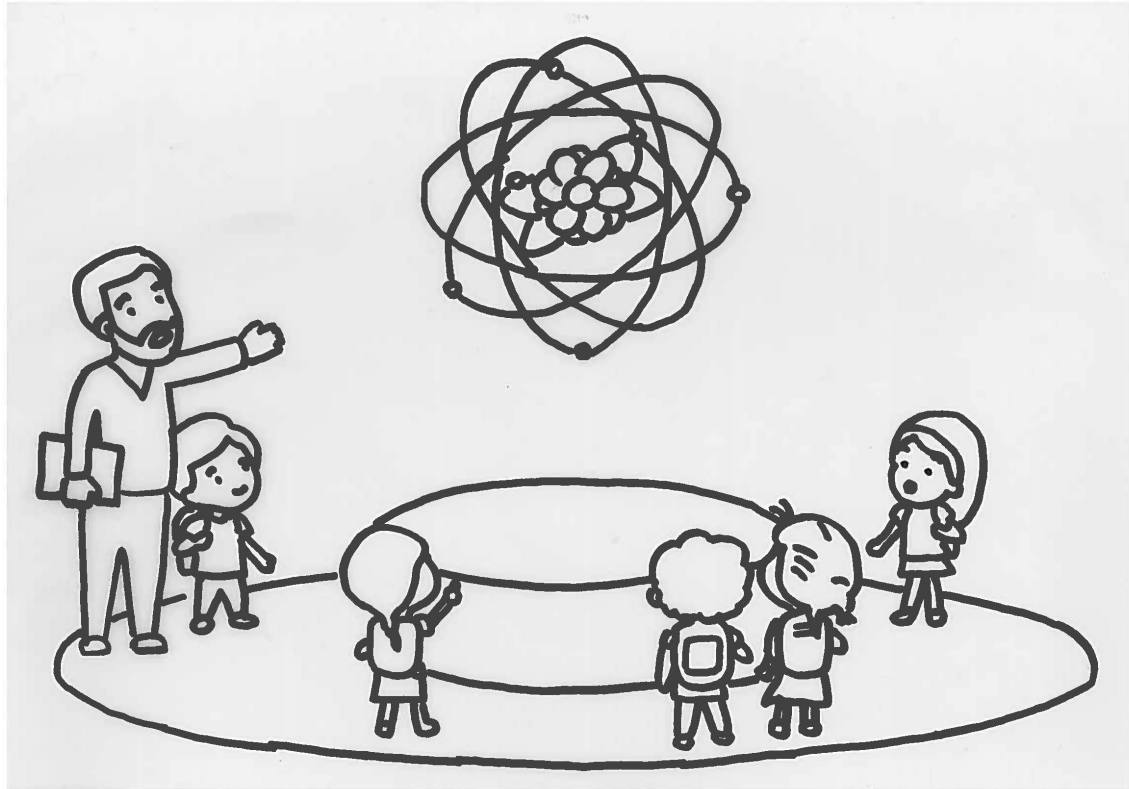

Luna's dad asks "oh cool, which location did you decide for your first day? I'm going to France with your younger brother, Thebe"

Luna "I want to go to Morocco for school today!"

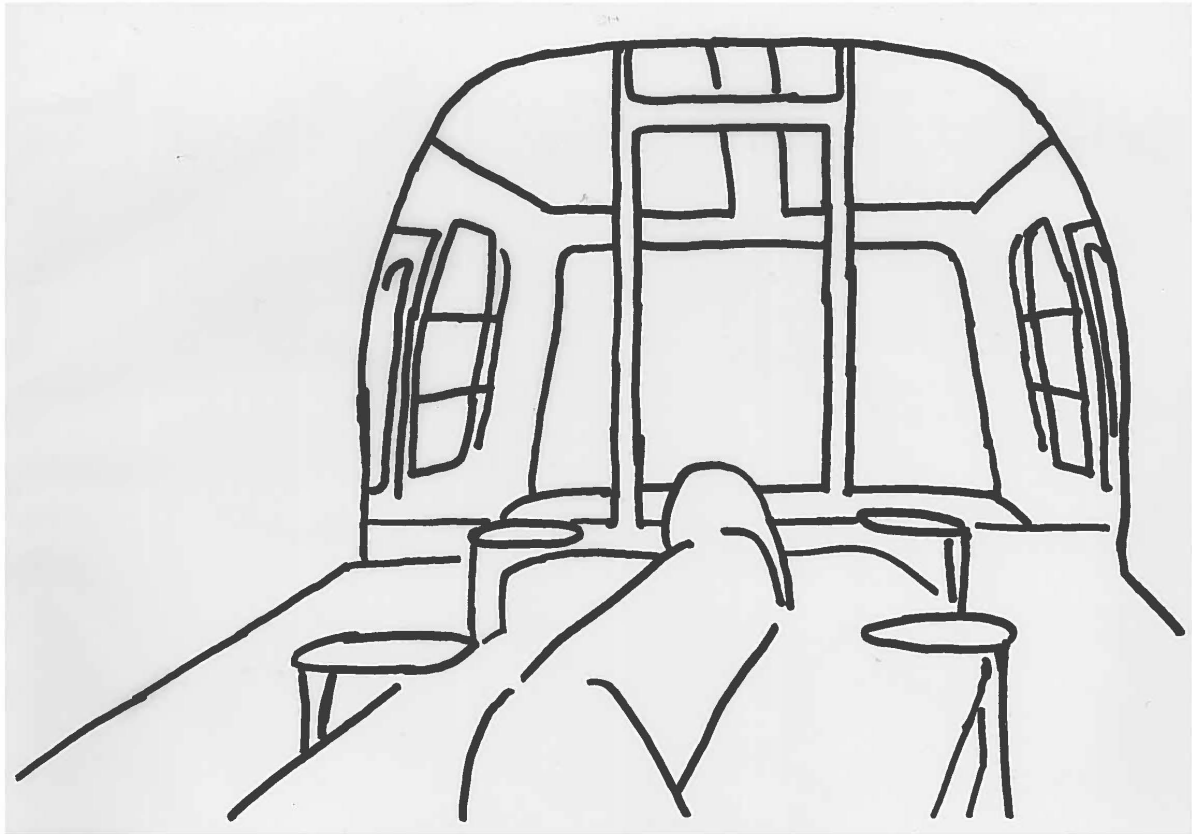

The whole family heads down together to the shuttle at the base of their building.

Mum is going to Sweden, Dad and Thebe are going to playschool in France, and Luna is going to Morocco!

Luna meets Takeshi - "It's my first day today. I'm Dutch, and there are over 25 million people in my country! Where are you from?"

From under the school Luna sets the vessel destination to Leidsche Rijn and in she pops.

"If only I could see the mountains, but it's going too fast!"
