Collection LBGES: History

Collection

The collection is arranged systematically according to the NPS classification.

The collection contains historiographical works, world history, non European and European history, with a large share for the history of the Netherlands. You will find here publications on politics and diplomacy, as well as on social, economic and cultural aspects. The collection also comprises a large number of books in the field of political studies and international relations.

There is a fair amount of literature about North and South America and about the problematics of third world countries, but the specialized researcher will find more in the libraries of Leiden or Amsterdam. The same applies for literature on Africa, China and Japan.

Ego documents can be found in the language collections.

The collection comprises ca. 40,000 volumes and is primarily divided into large geographical entities (world 15.60 – Europe 15.70 – by country 15.71 – Netherlands 15.72, and next the other continents), arranged by approach ('aspect') and historical period.

Medieval historiography, chronicles for instance, can be found in the section historiography (15.01) by country. Other sources, such as municipal bills, can be found grouped together in the history by country within the section 10 (form elements). Medieval texts belonging to the literary canon are placed in the literature sections of the language collections. Books about doctrine, liturgy, monastic orders and saints can be found in the collection LBREL: theology.

Outside section 15 (= history), the history collection LBGES also houses important other NPS sections such as philosophy (08), economy (83) and political science (89). Consult the outline of the systematic arrangement.
