Collection LBTHE: Theatre, film and television studies

Collection

The collection consists of approximately 11,000 volumes and mainly covers the areas of drama, theatre, dance, film and television (especially drama productions).

The drama and theatre sections consist of publications on the theory of drama, the interpretation and history of drama, performance aspects of theatre and studies about actors, creative directors and managers. There is a particularly extensive selection of books on the antiquity and the Middle Ages, the Elizabethan period, the classical period and contemporary Western Drama.

Within the section theatre dance, the emphasis is on dance in the twentieth century.

The film and television drama section tries to give a broad perspective on the field. However, only a limited number of books are purchased which deal with specific productions, directors and actors.
